DETAILED ACTION

Examiner's Amendment

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.
2. Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with David Rozenblat on December 8, 2004.

The application has been amended as follows:

IN THE ABSTRACT:

Please delete the space between lines 3 and 4 of the abstract so as to make the abstract only one paragraph.

IN THE CLAIMS:

Claim 16, line 5 from the bottom, before "0.01", delete " $\leq$ ".

Claim 16, line 5 from the bottom, after "0.01", insert  $\leq$ .

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1, 2, 7-16, and 20-29 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicant's declarations filed under 37 CFR §1.132 on November 22, 2004 are persuasive in distinguishing the claims over WO '214, the closest prior art. Specifically, while WO '214 teaches that  $0 < y < 0.6$ , Applicants have shown results ascribing a criticality to the range of  $y$  being between 0.01 and 0.5. By showing that a negative result is achieved when  $y=0.55$  (e.g., discharging energy =2.9) and a positive result is achieved when  $y=0.50$  (discharging energy =3.3; see Example 1-4 in Table 1 of instant specification), Applicants have sufficiently shown a criticality of the endpoint of 0.50. It should be noted that the  $z$  variable of the claims ( $0.01 \leq z \leq 0.50$ ) is also critical (see Comparative Examples 1-3 and 1-4 of instant specification) and Applicant's positive results occur only when the  $y$  and  $z$  variables are both within the claimed ranges. As such, the claims are allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
